

How well do you know the Catholic faith? Well, let's find out..."

I have a simple question: What are the “corporal works of mercy”?

A) To sing at the Church, give drink to the thirsty, buy brand name clothes, shelter the homeless, visit the sick and the imprisoned, and bury the dead.

B) To feed the hungry, give drink to the thirsty, clothe the naked, shelter the homeless, visit the sick and the imprisoned, and bury the dead.

C) The Church doesn't talk after the council about the corporal works of mercy.

How well do you know the Catholic faith? Well, let's find out..."

Pope Francis talks a lot about the poor. What significance do the poor have for Christians?

A) Love for the poor must be in every age the distinguishing mark of Christians.

The poor deserve not just a few alms; they have a claim to justice. For Christians there is a special obligation to share their goods. Our example in love for the poor is Christ.

“Blessed are the poor in spirit, for theirs is the kingdom of heaven” (Mt 5:3)—that is the first sentence in Jesus’ Sermon on the Mount. There is material, emotional, intellectual, and spiritual poverty. Christians must look after the needy of this earth with great consideration, love, and perseverance. After all, on no other point will they be evaluated by Christ so decisively as on their way of treating the poor: “As you did it to one of the least of these my brethren, you did it to me” (Mt 25:40)

B) Christianity talks only about Jesus Christ. The human person is not important.

C) The Church teaches we need to be poor. We should sell everything and live on the streets.

How well do you know the Catholic faith? Well, let's find out..."

Pope Francis talks a lot about the poor. What significance do the poor have for Christians?

A) Love for the poor must be in every age the distinguishing mark of Christians. The poor deserve not just a few alms; they have a claim to justice. For Christians there is a special obligation to share their goods. Our example in love for the poor is Christ.

“Blessed are the poor in spirit, for theirs is the kingdom of heaven” (Mt 5:3)—that is the first sentence in Jesus’ Sermon on the Mount. There is material, emotional, intellectual, and spiritual poverty. Christians must look after the needy of this earth with great consideration, love, and perseverance. After all, on no other point will they be evaluated by Christ so decisively as on their way of treating the poor: “As you did it to one of the least of these my brethren, you did it to me” (Mt 25:40)

B) Christianity talks only about Jesus Christ. The human person is not important.

C) The Church teaches we need to be poor. We should sell everything and live on the streets.

How well do you know the Catholic faith? Well, let's find out..."

I have a simple question: What are the “corporal works of mercy”?

A) To sing at the Church, give drink to the thirsty, buy brand name clothes, shelter the homeless, visit the sick and the imprisoned, and bury the dead.

B) To feed the hungry, give drink to the thirsty, clothe the naked, shelter the homeless, visit the sick and the imprisoned, and bury the dead.

C) The Church doesn’t talk after the council about the corporal works of mercy.